CLARION CALL TO CHINA'S MILLIONS

JAPANESE WAR OFFICE
PRECAUTIONSStricter Supervision Over
Army Statements

Tokyo, April 6.

The War Office has ordered a more strict supervision and censorship of articles and statements by soldiers and civilian members of the service in a revision of the rules governing publications by members of the army.

The revision published in the Official Gazette, will take effect on April 11. The present regulations, issued in December 1933, reportedly do not fit present-day conditions.

At present an officer may issue a pamphlet, for example, after obtaining the permission of his regimental commander. In the future, he must secure the approval of the divisional commander. Following submission of the application, the commander will "freely" censor the material or entrust the censorship to a gendarmette corps commander.

Following the censorship, the material must be reported to the War Minister. A provision added to place a curb on the publication of seditious literature within the army, the paper states.

Items coming under the new orders include material for books, magazine and newspaper articles and other written manuscripts, lectures, radio talks, photograph recordings, talking-picture speeches and opinions aired in informal group discussions.—Union News.

DRUGS END IN
SMOKESix Men Executed
In Public

Peking, April 6.

In the presence of a thousand Chinese and a number of foreigners, the police this morning burned a large quantity of confiscated drugs outside the Temple of Heaven.

The gathering also witnessed the execution of six men convicted of dealing in the drug traffic. This brings the total number of pedlars executed since the new law was enforced on January 1 to eighteen.

The police allowed photographs to be taken of the burning of the drugs, but forbade the taking of photographs of the execution.—Reuter.

PEACE FORMULA
ACCEPTEDTrouble Averted In Szechuen

Shanghai, Apr. 6.

Serious trouble in Szechuen has been averted as a result of General Lul Hsiang's acceptance of the formula proposed by Nanking with a view to eliminating the recent causes of friction between the Chungking branch of the Military Affairs Commission and the Provincial Government according to a message from Chenku.

The formula lays down six measures for demarcating the functions of the two bodies.

General Ho Ying-chen, the War Minister, is expected to pay a personal visit to Szechuen shortly in order to ensure the execution of the formula.—Reuter.

"SACRIFICE WITHOUT HESITATION"

REVIVING THE "HEADING FORWARD" SPIRIT

SUIYUAN: SYMBOL OF NATIONAL UNITY

By

MR. WANG CHING-WEI.

Chairman Of The Central Political Council

By special arrangement with the "People's Tribune" (Shanghai) we are privileged to publish exclusively the following courageous and provocative article written by Mr. Wang Ching-wei.

In "words that breathe and thoughts that burn," this world-famed statesman of China conveys a remarkable message which, we feel, will touch responsive chords wherever Freedom and Independence are vibrant ideals.—The Editor.

"If our country is driven to the last extremity, thus making sacrifice inevitable, we shall make that sacrifice with what we have accumulated materially during the last few years, as well as with our lives, without the least hesitation. We shall not leave those patriots of Suiyuan who rest in the cemetery at Kweihsia to sleep alone. We survive only in order to carry out their will to defend China's territorial integrity and resist invasion, and we shall be ready to die for the cause to which they gave their lives. There are only two alternatives—that every one of us sacrifice his life in defence of China, and so convert the Republic into a vast cemetery for our 400 millions, or that China be allowed to march along the broad road of freedom and equality, so that our descendants may live happy and contented."—Wang Ching-wei.

Returning from a brief visit to Kweihsia in Suiyuan, where I was sent by the Central Authorities to render homage at the graves of the war dead and to convey appreciation to the soldiers and civilians who defended China's sovereignty for having successfully resisted alien invasion during the recent hostilities, I am deeply impressed by the remarkable demonstrations of national solidarity witnessed in Shansi and Suiyuan. There is undoubtedly a great reawakening of patriotic sentiment among the people, which shows itself in willing recognition of the authority of the National Government, in determination to defend China's territory and sovereign rights, in social and economic reconstruction.

It will be recalled that last autumn "Manchukuo" troops and "irregular" forces invaded Suiyuan Province, and our territorial integrity and sovereign rights were in grave danger.

The successful defence of Suiyuan has revealed the broad way to national regeneration, and encourages the 400 million people of China to repose complete confidence in the future of the Republic. We must realize that the successful defence of Suiyuan has an important bearing on history as well as upon the situation. When China was invaded in the past it often happened that the despicable acts of traitors, rather than the aggression of aliens, inflicted the most deadly blow upon our country. That Chinese should be unfaithful to their own people is a disgraceful stain on the pages of our history, and if such humiliating acts should be repeated, China would suffer early extinction. The successful defence of Suiyuan has wiped out that shameful stain on our national history, which has been cleansed by the warm blood of those compatriots of ours who, inspired by love of their people and their country, gave up their lives that China might live.

WANG CHING WEI

Shanghai, April 6.

Meetings of the shareholders of the Commercial Bank of China, the Industrial Bank of China and the Suiyuan Bank last Monday approved negotiations whereby the Nanking Government will take over a controlling interest in all three. Each bank is capitalized at $4,000,000. Under the contracts approved on Monday, the ratio of ownership of shares will be as follows, in yuan:

"DAILY PRESS"
CIRCULATION

Significant Increase

GRATIFYING PUBLIC SUPPORT

It is with real pleasure that we announce that from October, 1936, to March, 1937, inclusive, the street sales of "The Hongkong Daily Press" have increased by 107 per cent, compared with the corresponding preceding period.

Similarly, sales for March this year show an increase of 130 per cent, as compared with those of March last year, and an increase of 145 per cent, as compared with those of March 1935.

We feel that publication of these facts will be gratifying to the public generally and to those advertisers particularly who have inspired us by their support, during a period of endeavour and re-organization from which "The Hongkong Daily Press"—the longest established morning newspaper in the Colony—has successfully emerged with increased and increasing public support.

It is of further interest to note that our street sales so far this month show an even more gratifying circulation increase than was recorded at the commencement of last month.

Coming Election
In Belgium

The weekly broadcast on the "World Affairs" series relayed from Daventry ZBW last night dealt with Belgium. The speaker, Mr. H. V. Hodson, told of the elections to take place in Belgium on April 11 between Leon Degrelle, leader of the Rexists, and M. Van Zeeland, the Prime Minister, and the outcome would be of vital importance to Great Britain's policy and European affairs.

Mr. Hodson referred to a speech on foreign policy made by King

Leopold in October last which set all Europe a humming. Belgium, said Mr. Hodson, was one of the keys to the security of the West.

He added that for about a year the Nationalist Government of Van Zeeland, formed in 1935, had been violently carried by a movement called the Rexists Party under Degrelle, a very young leader. They accused the Government of all sorts of political crimes and

THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

NEED FOR ROTARY CLUBS IN WORLD TO-DAY

Large Number Of Guests At Weekly Local Meeting

The weekly tiffin of the Hong Kong Rotary Club, held at the Hong Kong Hotel yesterday was attended by a large number of visiting Rotarians including members of the first Australian Goodwill Mission to the Far East who are on their way home after visiting Shanghai and Japan, as well as members of the Rotary Clubs in different parts of America and England who are on a world tour on the White Star liner, Franconia.

Rotarian Major R. D. Walker, the president, was in the chair and the speaker of the day was Mr. Basil Fung, whose subject was Monograms and Calligrams. Guests introduced were Rotarians Angus S. Mitchell, A. M. Langan, H. Cargree, G. H. Limb, A. Rilson, A. Congar, G. H. Griffiths, G. J. Loney, C. Woodward, L. N. Thompson, all of Australia, Rotarians H. H. Park, Z. W. Rance and Ed. M. Doyle (U.S.A.), and Messrs J. D. McLeod, C. H. Holmes, J. E. Arnold, H. F. Bernie, C. Formon, R. Calzini and K. Haase. Dr. J. H. Hamilton, past president of the Maxborough Rotary Club was also present and he said he brought greetings from his club and when he returned he would convey the greetings of the Rotarians of Hong Kong to members of his club. He said that to-day the world needed Rotary Clubs more than ever before and he hoped they would keep up the good work.

Before calling upon the day's speaker to deliver his address, the president said that he wanted to take the opportunity of bidding farewell to Rotarian Comm. A. Bianconi who was attending the last meeting before his departure from the Colony. He wished Comm. Bianconi good luck and goodbye. The latter replied briefly.

MONOGRAMS AND CALLIGRAMS

Mr. Fung then addressed the meeting in the following terms:—My subject this afternoon may have some direct and important bearing upon all of you—that of Monograms and Calligrams, that of one's personality, and that of one's individuality. But previous to the commencement of my talk on this subject I am desirous to point out to you that all these exhibits here do not and are not meant to reveal my artistic ability but are merely destined as illustrations which may serve the purpose of illustrating to you the structural characterizations of well balanced designs and monograms.

The monogram was one of the first roads that man explored in his search for immortality. When Smith Minor carved his initials on the master's desk in the first room and like Cromwell, "damns himself to everlasting fame," he is following a tradition that was well established when Pharaoh built mightily to posterity many centuries ago.

The art of the monogramist was one of the first that established itself in the middle ages in England. Not only did the medieval knight or baron and infinite satisfaction in his coat of arms, but he was proud, also, to decorate his home with his monogram. He carved it on the banisters, on the fireplace, on the walls of his hall and even decorated the stalls of his stables with quaintly entwined letters signifying either his initials or his full name. In many cases his monogram was a greater source of pride to the noble than the coat of arms which represented his family.

COLOUR AND DIGNITY

To-day the monogram is used, not only by the individual to lend colour or dignity to his notepaper and distinction to his automobile, but by commercial firms to gain recognition for their products. In many cases, manufacturers are so "alive" to the publicity value of an effective monogram, that they take out a patent for it and use it as their trade mark.

SHAPED INTERIOR

An attractive monogram may better express your character, gentlemen, than a coat of arms. For instance, if you were a very superior person, like the late Lord Curzon, your monogram might be arranged in the form of a scintillating sun, and if you are an easy-going sort of fellow naturally your monogram would be oval shaped—no angle or corners.

All monograms have a shaped interior in which the letters are attractively arranged. The outline or border may be in the shape of a circle, semi-circle, ellipse, square, rectangle, diamond, triangle, or any geometrical figure, or it may have no definite outline such as the monogram, as demonstrated, O.L.G., being the initials of a well known motor cyclist.

Mr. Fung then gave a number of demonstrations with different sets of monograms and concluded his talk with five very cleverly executed calligrams of Oliver Hardy, Stan Laurel and Betty Boop of cinema fame, and of Signor Mussolini and Herr Hitler.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr. Fung was thanked by Rotarian Mr. F. Key on behalf of members of the Rotary Club and their guests.

CARNAL KNOWLEDGE ALLEGED

Defendant Denies Accusations

Loi Hol, aged 41, of 20, Hollywood Road appeared before Mr. K. Keen at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon on a charge of carnal knowledge of a girl, Li Kol, aged 10 years.

Chun Yung, mother of the complainant gave evidence and said that she had left the house, to throw away some rubbish when about 2.30 p.m. her daughter ran up to her and was crying. She told witness that she had been indecently assaulted by "fel lo," the defendant.

Witness alleged that defendant told her daughter not to say anything to witness about the matter otherwise he would kill her. Witness then reported to the Central Police Station.

Lum Sum, Po 56, a fellow tenant, said that she saw the girl, and a few minutes later the defendant came out of the front door and walked away.

Defendant denied everything and said that he was a cook on the premises and went out to buy food. When he returned he was asked why he had bought food so early. Defendant left the food in the kitchen and then went to a shoe store, and later returned home at 3 p.m. and as he was removing his jacket he was ar-

Another witness, the defendant's younger brother, said that he went to look for his brother and saw him at the Wah Mei shoe shop at 1 p.m.

At this stage the hearing was adjourned until 10 a.m. to-day.

BIG LITIGATION CONCLUDED

Parties Come To Agreement

The half-a-million dollar estate litigation which opened at the Supreme Court on Monday was brought to an abrupt conclusion yesterday when an agreement was reached between the parties concerned and an order to that effect was made by His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor.

When the Court opened yesterday morning, and just as Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., was about to put a witness into the box, Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., told the Court that he was prepared to make an order of settlement. He said that there was little doubt that a trust fund of some sort had been created, and hoped to establish beyond all doubt that the scheme of division sanctioned by the man who created the trust was that the estate be divided into tenths, with three parts going to the ancestral fund and the remaining seven divided between branches of the family in the ratio one, three, three, three.

Mr. Potter said that his offer was that the ancestral fund division be taken and divided equally among the three branches of the family, making their proportions, two, four, four.

The Court then adjourned to enable the parties to consider the offer.

ORDER MADE

On resumption about an hour later, Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., said he was happy to inform the Court that it had been decided to accept the terms offered.

The Chief Justice then made the following consent order:—"The fund to be divided in the proportion of four, four, two, between the fourth, fifth and third branches of the family respectively."

"The Registrar to inquire and report, on application on behalf of any branch, which persons are entitled to participate in the share payable to each of the three branches and in what proportion. Liberty to apply."

"Costs as previously agreed between the parties of this action and Miscellaneous Proceedings No. 52 of 1935 to be taxed as between solicitor and client and paid out of the fund. The application of this scheme to the four infant defendants represented by Mr. She to be made in chambers."

RULES MADE IN 1897

The case involved estate totalling $425,000 and hinged on Family Rules drawn up in 1897 by three brothers who set out in the world to make their fortunes in commerce.

Plaintiff was Shum Shiu-po alias Shum Tak-to, alias Shum To, and he sought a declaration by the Court on the trusts upon which the property, heretofore held in trust under the said Family Rules, should henceforth be held.

Defendants were Mr. J. Hennessy Seth and Shum To-shing, alias Shum Yat-chuen, joint-trustees, and 88 members of the Shum family.

Mr. Eldon Potter, K.C., and Mr. H. C. Macnamara, instructed by Mr. H. K. Woo, appeared for plaintiff. Mr. George She was for Shum Yui-po, Shum Wui-po, Shum Hing-po and Shum Kai-fong, all infants, and the Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada, Jnr. appeared for Shum Chu-shing, Shum Yuen-po, Shum Sik-po, Shum Ying-po, Shum Yung-po, Shum Cheuk-po, Shum Chun-fong, and Shum Ah-tai, all infants. Mr. H. G. Sheldon, K.C., represented Shum To-shing, alias Yat-chuen, and the other defendants. Mr. Sheldon, Mr. D'Almada and Mr. She were all instructed by Mr. D. H. Blake.

TROOPS IN THE CORONATION

32,500 To March Or Line Route.

In the House of Commons Sir A. Sinclair (Calthness and Sutherland, L.) asked the Lord President of the Council whether he was in a position to make a statement regarding the representatives of the forces taking part in the Coronation procession and lining the streets, and what arrangements had been made for the accommodation of those troops in London, states the "Times."

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald (Scottish Universities, U.) replied:—The number of officers and men from home and overseas in the procession and the lining of the streets at the forthcoming Coronation will amount to approximately 32,500. In the procession will be detachments from the Royal Navy and the Naval Reserves, from all corps and units of the Regular and Territorial Armies, and from the Royal Air Force and the Auxiliary Air Force, the Navy providing 4,000 and the Air Force 3,000 men respectively out of the total.

FROM THE EMPIRE

The Indian Army and Navy will also be represented. Contingents from the Dominions will take part in the procession, and also a contingent representing the permanent and volunteer defence forces in the Colonial Empire. In addition some 6,500 men will be required for reserves and administrative duties in camps, &c.

Personnel required in connection with the Coronation will be housed or in camp in London from May 10 to 13. The camps will be in Kensington Gardens (processional Army troops and Royal Air Force), Regent's Park, Primrose Hill, and Olympia (Royal Navy, the Dominions contingents, and three Guards battalions), and at Hampton Court (Indian and Burmese contingents). The Colonial contingent will be accommodated in barracks in London.

The length of the return procession from Westminster Abbey will be approximately 3,500 yards and will take 40 minutes to pass a given point. Composite guards of honour from the three Services will be mounted at Buckingham Palace and outside Westminster Abbey (West Door). Bands, including a Service band from Canada, will take part in the procession and bands will also be stationed along the route.

A party of 50 of the King's Company Grenadier Guards will be present in Westminster Abbey.

DEMANDED MONEY FROM SCHOOLBOY

Appearing before Mr. Williams at the Central Magistracy yesterday Li Hing, 17, was charged with demanding money from Yu Nam Fung, schoolboy, on March 3. Det-Sergt. Allan said that the complainant was playing football on a vacant ground off Gascoigne Road when the defendant came up and snatched the ball and said that complainant had assaulted him sometime ago and that if he did not give him some money for compensation he (defendant) would assault him. Complainant then handed the defendant five cents which he said was not sufficient. The complainant then borrowed another five cents from a friend and gave it to the defendant, who told the complainant that he would have to bring a further fifty cents with him the following day. Complainant reported to the police, and defendant was arrested. His Worship passed sentence of five weeks' hard labour.

Trainbearers For Queen At Coronation

King's Cousin To Be One Of Them

The Queen has invited six ladies to carry her train at the Coronation, states the "Daily Telegraph." It is understood that they include:

Lady Iris Mountbatten, the 17-year-old daughter of the Marquess of Carisbrooke.
-Lady Ursula Manners, elder daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Rutland, who is 20.
-Lady Elizabeth Paget, second daughter of the Marquess and Marchioness of Anglesey, who is also 20.
-Lady Ursula Manners is a keen rider to hounds. She had a narrow escape from drowning in 1935 when her horse slipped from a bridge into a flooded ditch when she was out with the Belvoir. Lady Iris Mountbatten, who is a cousin of the King, was a bridesmaid to the Duchess of Kent.

Queen Elizabeth is following the precedent set by Queen Mary, who had six ladies as trainbearers at the Coronation in 1911. Queen Alexandra's train was carried by pages.

The trainbearers, with the Mistress of the Robes, take a prominent part in one of the most impressive moments of the entire Coronation. After the Queen has been anointed and crowned she walks slowly from the Sacristy towards the King's Throne and makes an obeisance before him.

As she does so the Mistress of the Robes and the six trainbearers bow with her and then range themselves behind the Queen as she takes her place on her Throne.

TELEPHONES IN ABBEY

Work is now nearing completion on the elaborate telephone system which Post Office engineers are installing in Westminster Abbey and at St. James's Palace for the Coronation.

When it is complete all the main points on the processional route, a number of key positions in the Abbey, Buckingham Palace and the Earl Marshal's office will be linked together. Six specially selected operators will be in charge of the main exchange at St. James's Palace, which will have the number Whitehall 4422.

Standards at the following points will also be connected with the switchboard: Houses of Parliament, Embankment, Parliament-square, Duke of York's Steps, the Mall, Constitution-hill, Hamilton-gardens, Marble Arch, and Grosvenor-gate.

One operator will be stationed at a special switchboard in the Abbey itself. He will be able to speak to another operator in the Annex at the West Door, while a first aid station outside the Abbey will be included in the telephone network also.

As the Crown is placed on the King's head the operator at the Abbey switchboard will telephone to St. James's Park, the Tower, and Windsor Castle, and give the signal for the salute to be fired.

What Do You Know About Radium?DID YOU KNOW—

That the total quantity of radium in the whole world amounts only to a few teaspoonsful?

That radium looks just like table salt, but £1,000,000 would buy you less than half an ounce of it?

That though radium atoms are constantly exploding at the rate of 200,000 a second, the loss in weight of the radium is imperceptible?

That if you could fill a furnace with radium instead of fuel, it would never need any more replenishing

That the "radium" on watch dials is really zinc sulphide with only the barest trace of actual radium?

That the handling of radium is followed by peeling of the skin, blindness and speedy death?

That radium was really discovered accidentally by a Frenchman named Becquerel, and that Mme. Curie only perfected his research?

That radium is obtained from pitchblende.

That thousands of different stages are gone through in the process of refining, taking six months to complete?

CLAN CHIEF IN EXILE

Sends Greetings To Rally

Clan tartans in the form of the kilt, sashes and ribbons, the strains of the bagpipes, eightsome reels and country dances, exhibition Highland dances, songs and recitations from the Struan country made the annual gathering of the Edinburgh branch of the Clan Donnachaidh Society (Robertson Clan) a typically Highland function.

The gathering took place recently in M'Vittie's Rooms, Princes Street, Edinburgh, and the guests, who numbered about 120, were received by Mrs. Robertson Matheson, hon. Clan secretary; Col. William Robertson, V.C., chairman of the gathering; Mrs. W. R. Reid, and Mr. Norman V. Reid.

The principal guests were Lord Robertson, Senator of the College of Justice, and Lady Robertson, and Mr. W. A. Robertson, manager and actuary of the Central Insurance Company and a well-known Rugby football referee, and Miss Robertson.

The dance, with time-honoured custom, opened with a picturesque grand march led by the clan piper, Pipe-Major James Robertson. During intervals the clan gathering poem was recited by Mrs. Hubert Paton; Gaelic songs to be accompanied by her clarsach were sung by Mrs. Nell Orr; Bertie Robertson gave solo Highland dances, and Mr. Charles Guthrie, W.S., the Edinburgh honorary secretary, sang two songs.

NEW CHIEF'S VISIT

The annual report revealed that the Lord Lyon King-of-Arms had granted warrant to the new Chief of the clan, Struan Robertson, who resides in Jamaica, to matriculate the Arms of the Robertsons of Struan. A greeting to the gathering from the Chief stated that next year he hoped to visit the clan country and meet the clan.

An interesting exhibit in the hall was a display of clan tartans, from William Anderson and Son, which showed the red Robertson, and what was believed to be the clan's dress tartan, lately found in the book "The Clans of the Highlands" which was published in Glasgow about 1850.

12-Month Sentence On Vicar's Son Was "Idiotic," H.G. Wells Declares

"It was an idiotic sentence, on an imaginative boy," declared Mr. H. G. Wells recently, when he supported the appeals made for Ronald Hugh Phillips, Phillips, eight-year-old student, son of a Leeds vicar, was gaol for twelve months when, at Leeds Assizes, he pleaded guilty to attempting to seduce a member of the R.A.F. from his allegiance. The Bishop of Bradford (Dr. A. W. F. Bunt) commented:—

"The boy is a young ass, but it is a savage sentence for a youth of eighteen. I consider that he should have been put on probation or bound over. It would have been far better to treat him leniently."

Edinburgh Union of Students has offered to support Leeds University Union in pressing for Home Office intervention.

Naval Films for Schools

Two years ago the Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Education declared that it would be to the benefit of the development of non-theatrical films to have a central commercial organisation which would supplement the activities of the British Film Institute in situations when its semi-official nature prevented it from itself acting. Accordingly a trading corporation called Educational and General Services was created.
At a luncheon its achievements were reviewed, and it was stated that a film library, begun only a year ago, now consists of 120 films of an educational nature, collected from England, Scotland, Sweden, Hungary, and France. Arrangements have been made to reduce to the sixteen-millimetre stock used in schools and institutions the “talkies” of “Great Expectations” and “The Invisible Man,” and the corporation has also made two films in close co-operation with the Admiralty. One of these, “A Naval Occasion,” was shown after the luncheon. This picture shows routine on H.M.S. Aberdeen during a voyage from Devonport to Malta. Together with “Naval Production No. 2,” also shown, it deals with the work which the fleet carries out in protecting trade routes and ensuring the safety of vital national supplies.

CONFERENCE OF EMPIRE

Premier Tells Of Plans

MR. BALDWIN in reply to Mr. Attlee in the House of Commons on the question of the Imperial Conference, stated that the Conference would open on May 14, states the “Bulletin” (Glasgow). It would afford an opportunity for discussing matters of common interest to members of the British Commonwealth under the following heads:—
WHAT AGENDA INCLUDES
(1) Foreign affairs and defence.
(2) Constitutional question.
(3) Trade, shipping, and air communications, and allied questions.
“As regards foreign affairs and defence, the agenda will include,” said Mr. Baldwin, “the examination of the general situation together with any relative questions of a less general character that may require consideration.”
“It has been generally agreed by His Majesty's Government that any question arising out of the Ottawa Agreement can best be dealt with as occasions offer for separate discussion between the individual Governments concerned and apart from the Imperial Conference.”
“It is hoped there will be opportunity during the course of the Imperial Conference for exchange of view on the subject of immigration within the Empire.”
On the motion that the House go into committee on the Naval Estimates, Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, said: “There will be every opportunity

SERIOUS CRISIS IN RUSSIA

German Press Opinion

Berlin, Apr. 5.
The arrest of the GPU leader Jagoda has merely served to add to the conviction of the German press that Soviet Russia at present is passing through a very serious crisis and it is hinted that Stalin is ever more forced into the position of a tyrant by the course of events.
“With Jagoda another pillar of Soviet Power crumbled down,” says the Berliner Tageblatt, adding that “the circle of Stalin's old colleagues is becoming narrower and narrower, all disappearing in dishonour as ‘criminals or saboteurs.’ There are only two explanations, which in themselves are not contradictory.
Bolshevik disintegration is beginning to destroy Bolshevism itself so that the Central Authorities are unable to call a halt to this process.
The dissatisfaction in Soviet Russia has assumed such dimensions as to constantly demand new victims and is now beginning to seek them amongst the heads of the Bolshevik Oligarchy.”
Jagoda's arrest is featured very prominently in every Berlin newspaper. There seems an inclination to reject the explanation given in some London journals, that the ever increasing rivalry between the GPU and the Red Army is leading to a phase in the development when the Soviet Military tend to take more control of affairs—

PROVISION FOR KING'S HEIR

To Be Made From Duchy Revenues

A motion, setting up a Select Committee to consider the Civil List, which makes financial provision for the King and his family, will be brought before the House of Commons, states the “Daily Telegraph.”
This announcement was made recently by Mr. Baldwin, in reply to a question by Mr. Attlee, Leader of the Opposition.
Later, Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, appeared at the Bar of the House with a message from the King, which he presented to the Speaker.
The message was read by the Speaker as follows:—
“The demise of the Crown renders it necessary that renewed provision shall be made for the Civil List.”
“His Majesty places unreservedly at the disposal of the House of Commons those hereditary revenues so placed by his predecessor, and has commanded that the papers necessary for full consideration of the subject shall be laid before the House.”
“His Majesty desires that provision shall be made for her Majesty the Queen and his Majesty's children other than H.R.H. Prince of Wales, corresponding to the provision the House of Commons has been willing to make in like circumstances in the past.”
PRINCESS ELIZABETH
“His Majesty also desires that suitable provision shall be made for H.R.H. the Princess Elizabeth and for H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester.”
“It is, however, his Majesty's intention as long as the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall are vested in himself, to make that provision for H.R.H. the Princess Elizabeth and H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester, and in so far as those revenues are sufficient to provide for his Majesty's Civil List, and in the event of the birth of a Duke of Cornwall to assent to those which were assented to by his predecessor.”
“His Majesty recommends the consideration of these several matters to His Faithful Commons, and relies upon their attachment to his person and family to adopt such measures as may be suitable for the occasion.”
“The title of Duke of Cornwall is always taken by the King's eldest son. In the event of there being no Duke the Duchy revenues automatically pass into the control of the King.”

In the course of the debate for the representatives of the Admiralty to deal with particular phases of naval administration.

Successful Premiere In Paris

"Elephant Boy," which has to some extent been suggested by the tale of Mowgli and the Elephant Boy, who was responsible for the excellent "Man of Aran." It was shown in Paris last month and it was very distinctly successful.

It matters little that the thin thread of story which carries on the action is as slight as most film stories, for what matters is the pictures of elephants—wild and tame—in India.

The magnificent tusked beast who plays the principal part shares the honours with the small Indian boy whom he lifts by his trunk on to his head and who then sits confidently on his neck and controls him.

THE WORKING MAN

George Arliss has a role more than slightly reminiscent of the first American business man part in "The Millionaire." In his latest Warner Bros. picture, "The Working Man," which comes to the Majestic Theatre to-day. It was obvious throughout the making of the picture that he was enjoying himself immensely.

"The Working Man," based on a story by Edgar Franklin and adapted by Charles Kenyon and Maude T. Howell, is a delightful comedy drama in which Mr. Arliss as a wealthy business man, masquerades as a small town fisherman in order to prevent the ruin of the son and daughter of a woman he had once loved.

MARY PICKFORD

Thousands of filmgoers went to Waterloo Station recently to greet Mary Pickford on her arrival from Southampton, where she had landed from the Cunard White Star liner Berengaria.

Buddy Rogers, her fiancé, had come straight from the set at Elstree, where he is making the film "Radio Parade of 1937," and when the boat train pulled into the platform a crowd followed him as he hurried along to Miss Pickford's compartment.

He found her surrounded by about twenty camera men, who took pictures incessantly.

Interviewed when she landed at Southampton, Miss Pickford said: "Mr. Rogers and I do not intend to get married in England. He has to be back in Hollywood early in April. I expect we shall be married in California towards the end of May."

AVENGING WATERS

Packed with explosive thrills is Columbia's brilliant drama of the open spaces, "Avenge Waters" at the Alhambra Theatre to-day, with Ken Maynard and lovely Betta Marioni in the starring roles.

Famous Violin Virtuoso Plays To-night

JOSEF LAMPKIN AT THE KING'S THEATRE

The Recital to be given to-night at the King's Theatre by Josef Lampkin, world-famous violinist promises to be of exceptional interest, and covers a wide field. It contains such standard favourites as the exquisite "Chaconne" by Vivaldi, with which the programme opens, and the brilliant and stimulating "Moto Perpetuo," with which it ends.

The beautiful Concerto in D. by Vieuxtemps has interesting memories for Josef Lampkin, since the great Maestro Hubey (with whom he has studied) edited this work for publication, afterwards presenting the original manuscript to his pupil, with all the composer's own notation and fingering.

A very unique and wonderful piece called "The Wind," by Vecsey has been played throughout his Far Eastern tours by this young violinist, and it is believed he is the only violinist who ever plays this difficult and intricate piece which was composed specially for him. Keen musicians will note the chromatic sixths, which represent the sound of the wind and give the piece its name.

Another ultra-modern number is a lovely "Satyre and Dryads" by Zsolt, a curious "Nigun" (from the Baal Shem collection of Ernest Bloch). A very fascinating typical Roumanian Dance called "Hora-Stacatto" (which was discovered by Jascha Heifetz when in Bucharest) and the lovely and haunting Danse Espagnole by De Falla-Kreisler.

Such a programme should appeal to every music lover, and with Harry Ore as the accompanist, a feast is assured at the King's Theatre.

The concert commences at 9.30 p.m.

PROGRAMME
(1) Chaconne—Vivaldi.
(2) Concerto D. minor—Vieuxtemps.
Intermission
(3) a. Nigun (from Baal Shem) Bloch; b. Hora Stacatto—Dinicu-Helfetz; c. Satyr and Dryads—Zsolt; d. The Wind—Vecsey; e. Danse Espagnole—De Falla-Kreisler; f. Moto Perpetuo—Paganini.

"How They Entertain On The Sets"

Visiting stars on Hollywood motion picture sets is similar to being invited to their homes, for methods of entertaining are practically the same. In most cases, elaborateness and formality are forgotten, as the entertaining has to be done between the all-important scenes in the current picture.

On the set, the property man assumes somewhat the same position that the players' chefs would occupy at their homes.

A great many of the stars serve tea to their guests. A visit to the Last of Mrs. Cheyney set at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios discloses the fact that Joan Crawford gives her tea a Russian touch by serving it in glasses. William Powell, on the same set, usually adds cakes and sandwiches if he is entertaining, or has been asked to join Miss Crawford's group.

Anyone who visits Edmund Lowe, Madge Evans or Paul Lukas on the Espionage set, receives a royal banquet, for the sterner recently have been filmed in a dining car, and the visitors are called right onto the set at tea time.

Clark Gable's guests on the Parnell set, should they arrive in the afternoon, at tea time, can be well assured that they won't receive any "lady-finger" sandwiches, for the actor believes in serving real sandwiches, without even the crust being removed.

Jeanette MacDonald, realizes that most people who visit her on the Maytime set are anxious to know something about motion pictures, and for that reason she seldom worries about serving anything to eat or drink. Instead, she takes them about the set and introduces them, not only to Nelson Eddy and Director Robert Z. Leohard, but to the head soundman, electrician and cameraman, so they will have complete knowledge of how the picture is produced.

Jean Harlow's friends receive a warm greeting, an apple or an orange and then are usually enlisted by the actress to aid her in working out one of the many cross-word puzzles that she does between scenes.

Guests on the Day At The Races set receive comfortable chairs and nothing else.

As Groucho Marx explains, "If we can't entertain them as we go through our scenes, then nothing else can."

When anyone plans to visit Eleanor Powell in the rehearsal hall where she is creating dances for Broadway Melody of 1937, her property man, Harold Thurgood, makes it a point to learn about the visit in advance, so he can have something fancy prepared.

And Robert Taylor believes in simple entertainment for his friends on the Personal Property set. They are served ice-cream cones, and then usually listen to a record or two on the actor's portable gramophone.

CORDELL HULL APPEALS TO NATIONS TO GIVE UP ARMAMENTS RACE

Declares Economic Activity Fundamentally Unhealthy

New York, April 5.
An urgent appeal for the countries of the world to give up the armaments race was made by Mr. Cordell Hull, U.S. Secretary of State, this evening in an address on receiving the Woodrow Wilson medal for his efforts to effect the lowering of international trade barriers.

Mr. Cordell Hull declared that the economic activity caused by the armaments race was fundamentally unhealthy as it sowed the seed for disaster in the form of military explosion or economic collapse and the only way to avert this impending doom was for the nations now preparing for war to align themselves with the nations intent upon the policy of peace in a determined and concerted effort to rebuild the international, political and economic relationships upon a basis of friendliness and co-operation.

In presenting Mr. Hull with the medal Mr. Hamilton Armstrong, President of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, declared that totalitarian states could not afford to let trade find its natural channels for their object was not prosperity through trade but national power, but Britain was not thus constrained and, without very many modifications, her present system of imperial preferences could probably accept a treaty similar to others Mr. Hull had negotiated.—Reuter.

CARLES SWENSON

If Gossip We Must

(BY TATLER)

Quite the best party of the year was given by Erik Nelson at his flat at the Kowloon Magistracy on Sunday night.

His original invitation to "assemble in any garb, to eat and drink and criticise the artist's ink, to shake the legs and fry some eggs" was accepted by quite 170 people and as one's taxi swept up to the entrance of the seat of justice one was greeted by the glow of Chinese lanterns, the sparkling splutters of braziers and the cheering smell of frying sausages and bacon.

The caricatures which decorated the walls were of outstanding virtuosity. The genial gubernatorial smile no less recognisable than the profile of our local First Sea Lord.

Dreadnaughts hung side by side with nympts errant and otherwise, and who could the opulent Victorian be who waited so gracefully round the canvas with the doyen of the medical profession?

Mr. and Mrs. King brought their two daughters. Mrs. King wore green velvet and Mrs. Steel, in black, looked charming. Mrs. Abbott was sparkling in a group of friends. Mrs. Swinburne came with her fox-hunting husband. The keen members of the Farling Hunt were all present and made appropriate hunting noises at frequent intervals. Mr. Bosanquet was in excellent voice.

Everybody was delighted to welcome Betty Hamilton (nee Gerrard) back. She is looking prettier than ever and is quite reconciled to Poona and Pind. Capt. and Mrs. Akroyd Hunt seemed to be enjoying themselves and Capt. and Mrs. Clough Taylor, who had come on from Comm. A. Bianconi's cocktail party were in excellent form. We must recommend for the cordon bleu the Naval officer who prepared our eggs, sausage and bacon. The superb wireless and our host at the piano provided excellent music and everybody danced on well past midnight. Mrs. Waymouth and Mrs. McKean were amongst those whom we saw dancing. Mrs. Jupp and Mrs. Cavanagh Mainwaring left early to everyone's regret as did the Misses Kotewall who were due to help entertain the Mayor of Canton.

The Misses Simmonds were obviously an inspiration to the amateur culinary volunteers.

There was much anticipatory gossip about the forthcoming S.P.C. Charity Ball which is fixed for April 9 and one enthusiastic saleswoman peddled tickets with great success.

Mrs. Clarke, who has recently come back from Singapore, was without her husband, who was literally at sea. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnstone have just returned from leave and it was delightful to see them back in the midst of things again. We noticed Commander Loly and his wife talking earnestly to Commander and Mrs. Broome. Commander Broome, by the way, provided the mural decorations at Erik Nelson's last year's party.

If one were to give a complete list of the people at the party it would fill a column. Let it suffice that there was not one dull moment and that everyone from the host to the merest cook seemed to be revelling in the party, while Erik and his double had some amusing moments.

One gathered up one's coat and umbrella—what a night—reluctantly, at 12.15 and the party was still in full swing. It is not often in Hong Kong that one is entertained so spontaneously and effortlessly.

CORRESPONDENCE

Tsun Wan Bridge

(The Editor, "Hong Kong Daily Press.")

Sir,—About this time last year, and in another place, attention was directed to the condition of certain bridges in the New Territories. The typhoon of August 1936 emphasised the fact that mention of the bridges was made none too soon, were they to be maintained in a condition to ensure complete public safety.

The reason stated by Government for deferring work such as the placing of these bridges in perfect order was that the finances of the Colony called for "supply" for more urgent public works.

Before the season of severe typhoons and heavy rains sets in this year, it is not inappropriate to invite the attention of Government once again to a work of urgent necessity. While the public Works Department cannot be held responsible for the routine maintenance of recurrent works because the holders of the purse strings of the Colony withhold the means for necessary expenditure, public safety demands that attention be given to the provisions for ensuring the highways of the New Territories against preventable substantial damage and collapse.

On the occasion of a recent visit to the New Territories, I could not help being attracted by the "tumble-down" condition of a bridge at Tsun Wan, crossing the stream below the sandalwood water-mills in that district and above the main road. Without wishing to become at all alarmist, it can be stated that the bridge in question is absolutely dangerous if its use is continued in its present condition. It is, to say the least of it, dilapidated, and the abutment has actually given way. The bridge itself, which is a concrete structure, is broken in parts. The platform has badly cracked in several places; some of the railings have been carried away, and the whole structure is hanging together in a very loose manner that threatens collapse at any moment.

Villagers whose business takes them across from one side of the stream to the other are making use of this crossway daily. Not only do they use it for pedestrian traffic, but they also carry heavy loads across it. Even European hikers were seen to make use of this bridge last Sunday.

There is a claim on Government that this essential crossing should be restored to a serviceable condition without fear of momentary collapse, and I trust that means will be provided at an early date for the reconstruction of a public facility which has been allowed to remain too long neglected.

Yours faithfully,

J. P. BRAGA.

OVERCROWDING OF PRISONS

New Problem For Government

Due to the fact that the local Magistrates are working overtime to cope with the record increase in crime, the Government is faced with a new gaol overcrowding problem, and it is only three months since the new gaol at Stanley was opened.

Exact figures are not available but it is learned that since 1930 the number of prisoners received from the different courts have more than trebled, the figures for 1936 and 1937 being 20,000 and 6,493 respectively.

Available accommodation at the new Stanley Prisons allows for the reception of only 930 prisoners and even when the new prison is fully completed there will be accommodation for only 1,500 prisoners.

As a result of the overcrowding evil that again threatens the colony's prisons, it appears that Government will have to retain the old Victoria Gaol for the overflow from Stanley.

Under the circumstances the plans for adopting Victoria Gaol as a market will almost certainly have to be abandoned.

H.M.S. BERWICK

H.M.S. Berwick left yesterday on a visit to Saigon, from which port she will return on April 19. On April 22, she leaves for England for re-commission and re-fit, having completed her service on the China Station. She will undergo the same reconstruction work that has already been carried out on H.M.S. Cumberland and H.M.S. Suffolk.

AUTHORS' 'LETHAL CHAMBER'

Mr. Hugh Walpole recently suggested that "a large literary lethal chamber would be a first-class idea," when he spoke at a dinner of the Authors' Club.

Most people agreed, he said, that there were far too many authors, far too many books. A great many books worthy of attention were forgotten—scarcely seen.

"It used to be true to say that no good book passed unnoticed. I believe it to be true no longer."

THE OPIUM TRAFFIC

The problem of narcotics in China has remained serious since the end of the war; reliable figures are almost impossible to obtain, but even if the situation is not as bad as it was before the war, when 30 to 40 per cent of the population were estimated to be drug-takers in some way or other, it is still one of China's main obstacles to becoming a great nation.

A pamphlet recently published by the Council of International Affairs at Nanking points out that one of the major difficulties in the way of any adequate control of the traffic in opium is the privileged position enjoyed by the foreign concessions in some Chinese cities and the Nanking Government's powerlessness in the provinces of Northern China where the Japanese have established control.

At the moment the main centres for the manufacture of opium and its derivative narcotics (morphine, heroin, cocaine, and so on) are Mukden and other towns in Manchuria, East Hopei, and the Japanese concession in Tientsin.

Narcotics of all sorts are on sale in the Japanese concession at low prices so it is stated, and regular orders can be given for their supply "just as the housewife has the morning milk or bread delivered."

The Chinese can do nothing to stop their sale, though they can—and do—impose the death penalty on traffickers caught on Chinese soil and even, since the beginning of this year, on all narcotic-users. Foreigners are also used, because of the privileges they enjoy, in transporting the drugs to Shanghai, whence they are shipped across to satisfy the prosperous American market.

The most tragic feature of the whole business is the fact that Japanese pedlars and smugglers are penetrating the whole of China, even those provinces which remain under the control of the Nanking Government, and inducing the poorer Chinese of all ages, sometimes knowingly, sometimes unknowingly, to become drug addicts.

RUGBY PLAYERS IN THEATRE SCENE

'Worse Than Roughs'

"Not even the biggest roughs in Whitechapel would behave in the manner that the so-called gentlemen did that night," said Mr. M. V. Mackey, prosecuting solicitor at Chatham Police Court when Ernest John Munday Hutchinson, a student of Wyre Agricultural College, Kent, was fined £4 for assaulting a commissioner at the Theatre Royal, Chatham, ordered to pay 4s. for damaging a door, and 2s. 2s. costs.

A Rugby team from the college had been playing a match in the neighbourhood, it was stated, and in the evening several of them were in the theatre singing and shouting and interfering with the artists and the band. Hutchinson was ejected three times, but returned. Seventeen police officers were needed to restore order.

Superintendent Hickott said that but for the police there would have been a riot. Referring to the students, he said: "I sincerely hope that they will never come to the theatre again."

FOUR YEARS AS MINISTER

Dr. J. Goebbels

Last month was the fourth anniversary of one of the most important administrative offices of the Third Reich, the creation of Dr. Goebbels as the Reichs Minister of Propaganda and Peoples Enlightenment.

For the first time the Great Powers of shaping public opinion, Press radio and film, were made instruments of State Propaganda. Among the many new organisations created under the auspices of this ambitious ministry are the great Winter Relief Work, the Reichs Chamber of Culture, where the cultural leaders of the country are brought back to the source of their work the people, film and theatre were reorganised and elevated to new standards.

Dr. Goebbels

"The plans for the impressive demonstrations of the whole nation in a new and united spirit, i.e. the celebrations of the May Day, originated in the office of Dr. Goebbels."

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, who is one of the oldest followers of Chancellor Hitler is known as the best orator among Hitler's co-operators. He was Chief of Propaganda of the National Socialist Party, made regional leader of Berlin, and in this capacity succeeded in converting the city of Berlin in the days before January 30, 1933, to a centre of National Socialist activity.

His magnetic personality brought him scores of admirers, and it was with Dr. Goebbels that the hero of the Party, the stormtroop leader and student, Horst Wessel, worked in close co-operation.—L.S.

PRINCE OF WALES' CUP

Welsh Guards Rout The Grenadiers In Final

1st Welsh Gds, 35 pts. 1st Gren. Gns. 0

With a victory over the 1st Grenadier Guards at Caterham—that was as convincing as four goals, a penalty goal and four tries would suggest—the 1st Welsh Guards won the Prince of Wales' Cup, the Rugby championship of Guards, for the fourth year in succession, states the "Daily Telegraph."

They were on top the whole time. Indeed, from the start, when the Grenadiers had the strong wind at their backs, the Welsh Guards' all-round superiority was most marked. Their forwards always had a firm grip on the game, with Boast to keep them to the work; and there was plenty of pace and thrust outside. Their backs were always dangerous when they had the ball, and some of their passing was very well done. They all combined so well in attack that it would be invidious to select any for special mention.

The Grenadiers, even with the wind in their favour at the outset, had to do a great deal of desperate tackling, in spite of which Banfield, Hopkins, Thomas and Kepp broke through to score for the Welsh. Staines, in addition to converting one try, kicked a penalty goal.

After the interval the Welshmen lost their dash for a time, and then, setting down to take command of the game, went on to score further well-earned tries by Dixey, Kemp, Hopkins and Banfield. Staines converted three.

WHERE IS CHEN CHI TANG?

REPORTED ARRIVAL IN MANILA

Potsdam Passenger List Mystery

Considerable interest has been aroused over the movements of General Chen Chi-tang who proceeded to Europe after he was ousted from Canton when Nanking took over complete control of affairs in the Province.

Press reports during the last few days stated that the erstwhile leader was due in Hong Kong, and according to Reuter messages he arrived in Manila on board the Potsdam from Singapore at the same time as Dr. Kung's party on the s.s. Victoria. There appears, however, to be some confusion as to whether he is on board or still in Europe.

Manila, April 6. An enthusiastic welcome awaited His Excellency Dr. H. K. Kung, the Special Ambassador and Chief Delegate of the National Government of China to the Coronation, and party on their arrival this morning aboard the Victoria. They were met by representatives of the Acting High Commissioner, Mayor Posadas, a number of high Government officials as well as a huge crowd of Chinese residents.

Dr. Kung expressed pleasure at being in the Philippines and stated that after the Coronation he would take the advantage of a visit to Europe to investigate industrial and economic matters in leading European countries.

Dr. Kung emphatically denied that he intended to raise a foreign loan for China.

Chen Chi Tang was also expected in Manila this morning aboard the Potsdam from Singapore but apparently he did not arrive.

Chen Chi Tang Arrives

Manila, Apr. 6.

It is now learned that General Chen Chi-tang did arrive here.

Dr. Kung and General Chen arrived simultaneously from Hong Kong and Singapore, respectively on the steamers Victoria and Potsdam. The vessels berthed alongside for seven hours till the departure early this afternoon of Dr. Kung's party.

The two leaders did not see each other as Chen remained in his cabin on the Potsdam the whole day although he was invited to attend a large luncheon party given by the Chinese community in honour of Dr. Kung.

Dr. Kung told Reuter that he was well enjoying the trip. He spent a busy morning sight-seeing. He made a speech at the luncheon and also earlier addressed the local Kuomintang.

Dr. Kung also attended a reception at Malacan Palace.

Reuter.

STILL IN EUROPE?

Canton, Apr. 6.

General Chen Chi-tang, former military chief of Kwangtung, is still in Europe, and reports current in Hong Kong that he would arrive there on April 8 are incorrect.

There is no government post available for General Chen Chi-tang in Nanking. He will continue to stay in Europe until he can resume military or political activity in China. The general is visiting the military establishments in leading countries in Europe.

Union News.

Manila, April 6.

The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of General Chen Chi-tang has caused considerable confusion. Many still believe that he is aboard the Potsdam, but Reuter learned that Chen never left Genoa although his name is on the passenger list. His staff aboard includes one of his divisional commanders and military secretary.

He had two sons by a previous marriage. Skeet's grandfather, whom he remembered, fought with Nelson at Trafalgar.

UNITED STATES DOLLAR

Factors Leading To Weakness

London, April 6.

The rise in commodities which is increasing her already unfavourable balance of trade, heavy offerings of gold in London of which she is only a purchaser, foreign withdrawals from Wall Street and inflation fears have resulted in weakness of the United States dollar.

Furthermore, consumers of American commodities are not purchasing at present so that there is no take off for dollars offered.

The narrowness of the foreign exchange market results in movements of rates being out of proportion to the volume of business. Foreign exchange circles expect international controls to intervene should the dollar continue to weaken, while it is pointed out that a seasonal demand for dollars may be expected shortly.

At the same time while America continues to be the only country in the world to pay a fixed price for gold, there is bound to be plenty of dollars on offer.

The fall of the London gold price is due to weakness of the dollar as there is no demand for gold except by the United States.

The force includes the cruisers York (flagship), Exeter, Apollo, Ajax, and Dragon, and the sloop Scarborough, with the destroyers Saguenay and Skeena of the Royal Canadian Navy. It will be increased to 10 units when the new Canadian destroyers Fraser and St. Laurent arrive from England on March 24. The ships of the Royal Navy are due to leave on March 27 for Bermuda, arriving on April 1, and the Canadian destroyers shortly afterwards for their home ports.

Newspaper Plane Out For Record

Shanghai, April 6.

London, from Tokyo, in less than three days! This is the objective of the plane, Divine Wind, the "Asahi Shimbun's" Japan-built monoplane, which has reached Taihoku, capital of Formosa, after covering 1,400 miles from Tokyo at an average speed of about 200 miles per hour.

She left for Hanoi as soon as she refueled, another 1,110 miles nearer London, at 10.19 a.m., having landed at Taihoku at 9.14 a.m.

Stops will be made at Rangoon, Calcutta, Karachi, Basra, Baghdad, Athens, Rome and Paris. The Divine Wind is equipped with a single 550 horse-power air-cooled motor and is capable of a cruising speed, it is claimed, of 250 miles per hour.

The pilot is Masaki Unuma, 25-year-old ace flier of the "Asahi" chain of newspapers. His companion is Kenji Tsukagoshi, who has the triple role of mechanic, relief pilot and radio operator.

SHIPBUILDING REVIVAL

Questions Of Rising Costs

At the meeting of Swan, Hunter, and Wigham Richardson, Limited, recently, Mr. J. Denham Christie, the chairman, said that the company began this year with a large amount of work in hand, which he described. Consequently, and in view of the probability of more to follow, all departments of the shipyards and engine works should be busy this year and for some time to come. The large Admiralty programme, occurring at the same time as the shipbuilding revival, was resulting in a shortage of certain classes of labour as well as difficulty in obtaining steel and other materials, and was affecting costs of both materials and labour.

Orders taken 12 months or more ago at low costs, Mr. Denham Christie continued, would of course be unprofitable, and although contracts accepted during the last few months were at higher prices it was difficult to estimate what costs would be. Advances of wages had been agreed till the end of this year, but steel makers had already put up their prices and were going to raise them further, and would not say by how much. The company, however, had felt justified in taking contracts, feeling confident that the workmen and the steelmakers and other friends of the company would not wish to put up costs unduly.

SHARE ISSUE OF ONE IN FIVE

As a part of the scheme it will be necessary to provide further funds to augment the present cash resources of the Indian company, and in order to achieve this the board has decided to make a rights issue of one share at the price of Rs.25 each for every five shares now held. The proceeds of this rights issue coupled with present cash resources will enable the company to take the financial stake in the new company that the directors consider the company should retain as a permanent investment.

It is considered that there is ample room in India for a new steel producing plant. Apart from special sections and qualities of steel which are not rolled by the existing steel plant at Jamshedpur, there has been imported in India annually for several years past 300,000-400,000 tons of steel in excess of the output of the Tata Iron and Steel Company. The industrial development of the country indicates that these requirements will increase, and there will be ample demand for all the products of the proposed steel company. The production aimed at is 200,000-250,000 tons of finished steel products per annum. The costs of production of iron by the Indian company, the directors point out, are probably lower than in any other iron-producing company in the world, and the proposed steel company will get the benefit of these lower costs, seeing that the present pro-

INDIAN STEEL PROJECT

Big Forthcoming Issue

The Indian Iron and Steel Company, in a recent circular to shareholders, give an outline of the scheme for the formation of a new steel company in India. When details of the merger with the Bengal Iron Company, which has now been completed, were announced last year it was indicated that the company would proceed to expand into the manufacture of steel and that negotiations were proceeding for the formation of a new company in conjunction with the Tata Iron and Steel Company and other interests. These negotiations have since broken down, and the directors have decided to proceed with the extension without the co-operation of the Tata company.

The new company will work in close co-operation with the Indian Iron and Steel Company at Hirapur and will have an authorized loan and share capital as follows:—£1,000,000 First Debentures (to be kept for issue to finance possible future extensions); £1,000,000 Four-and-a-half per cent. Guaranteed Convertible Debentures; Rs.2,00,00,000 (i.e., £1,500,000) in Five per cent. Cumulative Preference shares of Rs.100 each; and Rs.8,00,00,000 (i.e., £6,000,000) in Ordinary shares of Rs.10 each.

Of this authorized capital it is now proposed to issue the £1,000,000 Guaranteed Convertible Debentures, 120,000 Five per cent. Cumulative Preference shares, of Rs.100 each, and 2,500,000 Ordinary shares of Rs.10 each, which will give a paid-up loan and share capital of £3,775,000.

The Guaranteed Convertible Debentures will be unconditionally guaranteed both as to principal and interest by the Indian company, and will have attached to them for a period of 10 years the right to convert into Ordinary shares of the new steel company at the rate of 40 shares of Rs.10 each for each £50 of Guaranteed Convertible Debentures.

With regard to the Preference shares to be issued, application will be made to the local Government to sanction the payment of interest at the rate of 4 per cent. out of capital during the period of construction, which it is estimated will be about three years. Of the present issued capital, the Indian company and Messrs. Burn and Co. will underwrite firm 1,200,000 Ordinary shares and Messrs. Burn and Co. will underwrite firm 50,000 Preference shares. The remaining capital required will be underwritten by Messrs. Haas and Sons, London, and Messrs. Place, Siddons, and Gough, Calcutta.

Directors and some friends have further offered to take up firm 30,000 Preference shares and 700,000 Ordinary shares. The balance capital—namely, the whole of the Four-and-a-half per cent. Guaranteed Convertible Debentures, 40,000 Five per cent. Preference shares, and 600,000 Ordinary shares will be offered for public subscription.

As a part of the scheme it will be necessary to provide further funds to augment the present cash resources of the Indian company, and in order to achieve this the board has decided to make a rights issue of one share at the price of Rs.25 each for every five shares now held. The proceeds of this rights issue coupled with present cash resources will enable the company to take the financial stake in the new company that the directors consider the company should retain as a permanent investment.

U.A.U. FINAL

Swansea Win Again

For the sixth successive year Swansea University College won the final tie of the Universities Athletic Union Rugby championship when they beat Birmingham University at Swansea by three goals, one penalty goal, and three tries (27 points) to one dropped goal and two penalty goals (10 points).

Swansea's very decisive victory was almost entirely due to the presence in their team of Tanner and Davies, the famous Welsh half-backs, who only returned from the postponed international game at Belfast just in time to take part in the match. In fact the start had to be delayed because their train was late. Tanner and Davies after the interval were in their most devastating form and in one period of 10 minutes Swansea scored no fewer than four tries. The Swansea three-quarter backs supported their splendid half-backs most gallantly. G. E. Griffiths, the left wing three-quarter, scored three good tries. The other scorers for Swansea were Harris, Morgan, and J. A. Davies, a try each, and Jenkins a penalty goal. Jenkins also kicked the three goals for Swansea. For Birmingham Jones drop-

Cricket Title To Be Decided

Given good weather conditions, followers of cricket in the Colony are promised an excellent game on Saturday when the much talked of play-off between the Hong Kong Cricket Club and Indian Recreation Club, to decide the Senior Cricket Championship for the season, will take place on the Hong Kong Cricket Club ground.

These two clubs met in their League fixture about a month ago when a delayed declaration on the part of the Indian Recreation Club skipper spoiled what appeared to be a glorious opportunity for the Sookunpoo club to force a win.

Following the match with the Club, the Indians were fortunate in forcing a draw against the Kowloon Cricket Club, thus necessitating a play-off to decide the championship as the H.K.C.C. took full points from the Craigengower Cricket Club in their last League fixture of the season.

For this all-important match, the Indians are fielding the best team at their disposal and they will be represented by:

A. R. Abbas, F. M. el Arculli, M. el Arculli, Y. el Arculli, S. A. Ismail, A. R. Kitchell, A. H. Madar, A. R. Minu, K. Nazarin, A. A. Rumjahn and A. H. Rumjahn (Capt). Reserves: A. S. Sufiad and M. P. Madar.

The Club team has not yet been announced but they will be without the services of F. E. T. "Pea-nut" Marshall who has returned to Shanghai. In view of the fact that April 10 is a race day, it is doubtful whether T. E. Pearce will be playing, for, as a Steward of the Hong Kong Jockey Club, he will probably attend the Meeting.

ped a goal and Gibson kicked the two penalty goals.

Swansea's advantage lay entirely in the back division. Birmingham's forwards were quite as good as the home pack; they heeled as well, and were rather better in the loose. Gibson played excellently at back for Birmingham and Khomo, Brain, Thexton, and Ireland were four very good forwards.

Clarion Call To China's Millions

The message from the graves of the gallant dead is that the whole nation is determined to live or die with Suiyuan. Those honoured graves mark the foundation of our national regeneration.

China's national emergency has not yet been overcome, but in view of the vastness of our territory and our huge population, if we unite in mind and action we can transform the situation from one of danger into one of security. What is most important to remember is that to do this we must rely on our own efforts, and not look to others for the preservation of our national existence. While we can become friends with any powerful State, we must not rely on them for assistance, but upon ourselves. This is the one and only method of achieving national salvation and the perpetuation of our existence. Our Mongolian and Han compatriots in Suiyuan have already become a single entity, living in one territory and under one authority. If we save ourselves, then we can save others; in other words, if we make special efforts to preserve our own existence, we can then influence our compatriots in Outer and Eastern Mongolia, so that they may escape the tragedy of being forced to massacre each other, owing to their dependence upon outside support.

In the Manifesto of the Third Plenary Session of the Fifth C.E.C. was declared our dual determination to strive for self-preservation internally and co-existence externally. These two aims mark the centre of gravity of all our activities. In order to achieve internal self-preservation, the great mass of our people must be united and devote their efforts to productive reconstruction. Externally, in order to maintain her rightful position with other members of the family of nations, China should proceed along the road of international peace, but should our territorial integrity be threatened, we must be ready to resist aggression.

DIVIDED OPINIONS ABOUT DEFENCE

I have noticed that public opinion in China on this dual policy is somewhat divided. Some people maintain that internal stability is a pre-requisite to resistance against invasion, while others hold that resistance to aggression is a pre-requisite to internal stability. In my humble opinion, "internal stability" and "resistance against invasion" are essentially one and the same thing. For instance, giving soldiers rigorous training and enforcing strict discipline may be considered an internal problem, but when they level their guns against alien aggressors, this may be regarded as dealing with external issues. Yet without having had previous training and discipline, the troops will never be able to point their weapons effectively against invaders, and conversely, without their being able to resist invasion there is no point in giving them training. The more fervent is national sentiment against invasion; the more rigid is the unity of purpose and co-operation among the people. Thus we may say that while superficially internal stability and resistance against invasion are two things, they are in fact but one.

There is no room for any compromise between the Kuomintang and Communism. If the Communists will wholeheartedly support the decisions of the recent Plenary Session they will be given a chance to serve the country, but if they continue to advocate the principle of class-struggle, they will alienate themselves from everybody else. As an organized movement Communism must be eradicated, and eradication calls not only for purely negative action in preventing the spread of Communist activity but demands positive action, such as the inauguration of economic and social reforms and the acceleration of national economic reconstruction.

DISAPPOINTMENT WITH RECONSTRUCTION RESULTS

In regard to productive reconstruction, there have been some creditable achievements during the last few years. Since 1932, the National Government, in spite of grave difficulties and disastrous setbacks, has succeeded in establishing the nation's financial credit more firmly in the eyes of the world, has carried out great extensions of highways, railways, and other communications, embarked upon elaborate conservancy schemes, and in many ways done much to bring about rural rehabilitation by reducing taxation, providing credit facilities, and encouraging improved methods of production and distribution. The nation to-day is more united than ever before—even our severest critics admit this—and the social, political, and economic progress made during the last five years has been more marked than during any other period of our history. Nevertheless, what we have accomplished is not entirely satisfactory and in this connection there appears a great danger.

For this field of material development has been affected by the intensified national crisis, and those who are keenly interested in national affairs but fail to appreciate fully the determination and conscientious efforts of the nation, feel disappointed at the little that has been done. Certainly, this is a matter for deep regret. Then there are some people who have little interest in national affairs at heart, and accordingly make up their minds to remain indifferent and be satisfied with what they have got. Worse still are those people who usually do not take much interest in national affairs but openly reveal themselves as traitors, and consider this something to be proud of. This danger reached its climax in the latter part of 1935, and now that the task of defending China's territorial integrity and offering resistance to invasion is being seriously undertaken, this danger has gradually passed. In other words, our national spirit has taken a turn from decrepitude to ardent courage.

CHINA'S BACKWARDNESS AND THE REMEDY

Our national salvation depends in a large measure on economic construction to increase the strength of the people and the power of the State. The past decade has witnessed considerable progress in that direction, and has strengthened our confidence that we are now ready for the supreme sacrifice when and if the moment comes. The whole nation is called upon to exert its utmost efforts to accelerate national economic construction and accumulate power to improve their livelihood and solidify national defence. Some pessimists hold that in the matter of economic production China is so far behind the leading nations of the world that it is impossible for her to catch up with them. We must not take this defeatist view, but show what was called by Dr. Sun Yat-sen the "heavenly forward" spirit. It is not for me to philosophize on that spirit, but if it be applied to national economic construction it would mean making a new path of our own in order to outstrip those who are now ahead of us.

The Principle of Livelihood, as expounded by our late Leader, is the path of our national economic construction. It is a synthesis of the advantages of all the systems which have been tried by the leading States—a synthesis without their disadvantages. Only if we carry out this principle can we expect to solve our own problems and to compete with the rest of the world, for it has in it this "heavenly forward" spirit. This question of economic reconstruction brings up the question of Communism. As already mentioned, the Third Plenary Session decided to offer the Communists conditions which will allow for their repentance and effacement. If they refuse to accept these conditions, they are heading for annihilation. If they accept them, they will find the door to salvation not closed against them, but they must have a change of heart. Mere acceptance of the conditions without sincerity behind it will not do. They must give up the theory of class struggle, which cannot be tolerated by a people that must present a united front. Experience has decided the Government not to leave any loophole which might be utilized by the Communists to revive their propaganda activities among the people, and it is generally agreed that the most effective means to eradicate Communism lies in economic construction. When the people have settled the problems of production, distribution, and consumption, and begun to live in peace, they will not play into the hands of those radical and ambitious elements who try to incite them to action subversive to social order and peace.

SIR SYDNEY H. EVERSHED

Derbyshire's Former Cricket Captain

Sir Sydney Herbert Evershed, whose death at the age of 78 is announced, was a director of the brewing firm of Marston, Thompson and Evershed, Ltd., of Burton-on-Trent.

As a young man he was noted as a cricketer and Rugby football player. He captained the Derbyshire Cricket Eleven from 1890 to 1899, and it was largely owing to his efforts that the present champions became a first-class county in 1895.

When he last played for Derbyshire, in 1901, against Hampshire at Southampton, he scored 123 out of 170 for the first wicket. Three of his brothers also played for Derbyshire.

Sir Sydney, who was knighted in 1929, was a J.P. for Derbyshire and Staffordshire. He was a son of the late Sydney Evershed, M.P. for the Burton Division.

RYDER CUP GOLF

Walter Hagen Non-Playing Captain Of U.S. Team

Walter Hagen has been appointed non-playing captain of this year's American Ryder Cup team which is coming to England to defend the Cup at Southport and Ainsdale on June 29 and 30.

Hagen has always been a playing member of the U.S.A. side since the inception of the contest in 1927. He has been on the winning side on four occasions in the four-somes and won three of the four singles matches in which he played. His one defeat in the singles was at the hands of George Duncan, who won by 10 and 8, in 1929.

The other members of the team are to be selected shortly.

Hagen is at present touring New Zealand.

PUBLIC TO SEE CORONATION REGALIA

The King and Queen have given permission for their Coronation robes and regalia to be exhibited for the benefit of the public immediately after the Coronation.

Lady Smith-Dorrien, principal of the Royal School of Needlework, announced this at a dinner of the Glasgow University Women's Club (London), recently.

Describing the preparations for the Coronation which are being made at the school, she said:

"The Queen's train consist of six yards of violet velvet, lined and bordered with ermine, with an embroidered design comprising all the emblems of the different parts of the Empire.

"We are also making and embroidering the canopy of cloth of gold, embroidered with eighteen silver eagles.

"Their Majesties have realised that their robes and all this great pageant will only be seen in a fleeting way by guests at the Coronation, and they have therefore permitted me to hold an exhibition directly after May 12, for which they are lending their robes, and also a great many things from the Earl Marshal's office, which will be used at the Coronation.

"In addition I am collecting a number of interesting dresses and uniforms from those taking part in the Coronation, all of which should make an interesting exhibition, particularly for our overseas visitors."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Lecture At The Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Frank Bell, C.S.B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture on "Christian Science" at the Y.M.C.A., last week when a large gathering attended.

Below we give the fifth installment of Mr. Bell's talk:

Christian Science heals poverty in the same manner that sickness and sin are healed, through "the renewing of the mind," as St. Paul puts it. Inspired writers repeatedly have asserted that thought adjusted to the divine nature will bear fruit "after its kind." Jesus gave the unfailing rule for success when he said, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." This kingdom, the Master said, is "within you," and "at hand;" therefore the individual Christian has the right to feel that the essential completeness of reality is present, not absent, and only needs to be realized in order to be enjoyed.

A divinely intelligent and loving creator has not made a man to be impoverished anymore than to be sick or sinful. Poverty, like disease and sin, involves a mistaken sense of God and His work. The evil quality of poverty is not that it makes men suffer but that it misrepresents God. The Christian aim in overcoming poverty, as in healing sickness and sin, is to the glory of God. Mere getting of money would not glorify God, but the demonstration of power over material things through spiritual understanding does "magnify the Lord." The writer of Genesis affirms that divine Spirit has given man dominion over earthly things; Jesus proved this to be true and said his followers should do likewise.

One who for many years had been distressingly limited in income or salary found himself trying vainly to use his early glimpses of Christian Science to enlarge the salary by some mysterious process. Finally he saw that what needed to be enlarged first was his understanding of man as God's image and likeness. It was his narrow, pinched sense of self that was bringing forth "after its kind" in his personal experience. Cultivating a larger and more spiritual concept of God and man, as he learned to do in a perfectly natural way through the teachings of Christian Science, he soon found this clarified vision reflected in his affairs. Men and things began to manifest an unmistakable tendency to help rather than to hinder. Unexpected opportunities appeared and unsuspected capacities came to light. Human relationships became more fruitful of good, after the manner of true brotherhood.

Christian Science cannot be used for the mere acquisition of money or other material things, but it is successfully employed to the overcoming of that abnormal sense of lack which is the result of ignorance of spiritual substance and which in turn bears fruit in human fear and poverty.

Mastery of materiality is the secret of wealth and health. It is the mastery that comes to light in daily experience through the Christianly scientific cultivation of spiritual-mindedness.

THE KING'S CUP AIR RACE

Controls In Scotland And Ireland

The Royal Aero Club has announced that the King's Cup air race will be flown on September 10 and 11.

On the first day there will be an eliminating contest over a course of approximately 800 miles from Hatfield, going north to Newcastle-on-Tyne and Aberdeen, and then to Newtownards in Northern Ireland via Glasgow. The last leg of the course will take competitors to the Irish Free State, with the final control point at the Phoenix Park, Dublin. The competitors will stay the night in Dublin.

For the eliminating contest competitors will be divided into two classes, those whose aircraft are fitted with engines up to 150 h.p. and those with engines over 150 h.p. Two-thirds of the starters in each class who complete the course in the fastest time will qualify to fly the final course the following day. There will be no handicap in the eliminating contest.

For the final course competitors will leave the Phoenix Park at 11.30 a.m. on Saturday, September 11. They will fly to Newtownards and then cross the southern part of Scotland to Blackpool. From the final control at Cardiff they will fly to Hatfield, the finishing point. The total length of the final course is 660 miles.

At each of the central points the competitors will be required to make a compulsory stop of 30 minutes. Apart from the controls the following towns will be used as turning-points:—Cambridge, Skegness, York, Scarborough, Whitby, Edinburgh, Fortpatrick, Carlisle, Stoke-on-Trent, and Leicester. In the final course the competitors will be sent from Dublin in accordance with their handicap allowances, and the competitor who first reaches Hatfield will be the winner.

In addition to the King's Cup, the winner will receive a prize of £1,000 presented by Lord Wakefield. Other prizes, also presented by Lord Wakefield, will be £350 for the second and £150 for the third, and two special prizes of £250 each for the competitor in each class who completes the eliminating course in the fastest time.

A. P. and O. Record

Though bad weather was rumoured to be waiting for her at various stages of her journey, the P. and O. liner Strathmore, many of whose passengers have reached London by Marseilles, was able to improve on her "express" schedule for her latest voyage from Bombay to Marseilles, writes the "Manchester Guardian."

She sailed on the afternoon of March 6, and was in Marseilles Harbour by eleven in the morning on Tuesday, March 16, carrying a full complement of passengers, a sign of the Coronation season. She left Marseilles twelve hours ahead of schedule under orders to make a diversion south of the Balearics to avoid the danger of mines. This, however, was not expected to put her behind the time, for she has a fine turn of speed well within her maximum capacity.

The Strathmore was the P. and O. Company's answer to the Lloyd Triestino's Victoria on the same India-Europe run, and has served that purpose nobly. The result is that the Italians are putting a new fast ship on the route, presumably subsidised to the hilt. This vessel has yet to prove her qualities, not against existing competition only but against further ships projected by British owners. The wisdom of so much rivalry is open to doubt by all except the travellers whom it benefits, but it certainly enhances the general stimulus of the sea.

WEDDINGS

Two Ceremonies Yesterday

A very pretty wedding took place at the Rosary Church, Kowloon, yesterday afternoon between Miss Carmen Marie Therese Pereira and Mr. Edward Hope Meadows, clerk, Royal Army Medical Corps, attached to the Military Hospital, Bowen Road. The Rev. Father Rossi officiated.

The Church was artistically decorated, with tall palms, which formed an avenue from the door to the altar.

The bride looked charming in a dress of white satin with a yoke and long close-fitting sleeves of transparent white silk lace, her long veil of heavily embroidered net was held in place with a wreath of orange blossom, and she carried a sheaf of white lilies. Her sister Miss Marie Pereira was bridesmaid, and looked delightful in a graceful dress of wedgewood-blue silk-moire, made with a coatee effect, and short puffed sleeves; and she wore a bandeau of the same colour in her hair.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. A. P. Pereira and Mr. H. E. Marriott was the best man.

CUNNINGHAM—LAM

At the Registry of Marriages yesterday afternoon, Miss Constance Lam, daughter of Mr. Lam Kai Tsung, of the Civil Service, became the bride of Mr. Edward Samuel Cunningham, of the Colonial Secretariat's Office. Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith, Registrar of Marriages, officiated and the witnesses were the bride's father and Mr. W. E. Broadbridge. A reception was later held at the Gloucester Hotel.

PRESS COMMENT ON GERMAN PROTEST

Capetown, April 6.

Commenting on Germany's protest, the "Cape Times" writes: "The Union's proclamation can only become a combative measure against Germans in South-West Africa when the Germans there resort to those subversive activities which, unfortunately, in the past few years, under instructions from the Nazi headquarters and with the connivance of German representatives in this country, they have not scrupled to undertake."

"The protest, frankly, is not worth the paper on which it is written. It defies all the ascertained facts."

ELECTION IN BELGIUM

appealed to the people. The propaganda of Degrelle was undoubtedly taking a grip on the people of Belgium and the Government changed its policy to cut some of the ground under Degrelle's nimble feet.

A month ago Degrelle challenged the Government to an open duel by ordering the only Rexist representative to resign from the Chamber and he would stand in his place himself.

The Government accepted the challenge and put up as their candidate Van Zeeland who had always regarded himself outside party politics. It was a trial of strength between Fascism and parliamentary Government.

What would the coming election mean to the outside world? asked Mr. Hodson. If Degrelle wins the party balance would be unchanged in Parliament but it would be a tremendous blow to the Rexist and a tremendous blow to Belgium. If Van Zeeland wins with a majority it would equally be a setback in the same cause but its international significance would not be so positive. It would, said Mr. Hodson, confirm Belgium's policy to retreat from the armament policy and it would be a victory for Government over the allurements of dictatorship.

There were rumours, Mr. Hodson concluded, that the Little Entente are about to join up with the Franco-Russia system and form a Danubian block. This was not a wildly fantastic position but Mr. Hodson advised that these rumours should not be accepted at face value.

RICE EXPORT TO CANTON DELAYED

Canton, Apr. 6.

Owing to the Canton Customs declaration that all imports of rice must be covered by verification certificates issued by the Canton Food Control Society, delay and misunderstanding has been occasioned by the Canton Food Control Society's refusal to accept the responsibility of issuing the necessary certificates to the Hong Kong rice merchants.

Consequently, the shipments of rice to Canton have been delayed, pending a satisfactory reply to the telegram which has been despatched to the Nanking Finance Department by the Hong Kong rice merchants.

MERCHANTS PROTEST AGAINST TAX

Owing to the levy of an extra tax on salt, the Canton salt merchants in Canton have ceased to do business as a protest.

When Dr. H. H. Kung, the Finance Minister passed through Hong Kong on Sunday, on his way to England to attend the Coronation, representatives of the Canton salt merchants seized the opportunity to petition Dr. Kung against the imposition of the extra tax on salt, and it is said that Dr. Kung agreed to telegraph their request to the Nanking Finance Department for favourable consideration.

It is also reported that the representatives of the Canton salt merchants have requested the Hong Kong Chinese Chamber of Commerce to support their petition, as the tax will affect the Chinese in Hong Kong alike.
